Summary

Bach's Farm Animals is a Classical Kids take on a typical farm and the animals on that farm. Filled with the wonderful sounds of Bach's Cello Suite and 6 year old Aiden's voice, this book is sure to delight every young learner in the family. With a movie and page by page audio, this book will positively help any child with learning farm animals by name.

What is Classical Kids? Classical Kids is an amazing audio/visual educational book series designed with kids in mind. Using timeless Classical music and a focus on pairing pictures with words, kids' cognitive abilities are enhanced through these interactive books. The video plays the entire book with carefully chosen Classical music, which works great for younger children and infants, while older children will enjoy using the book to learn words and sounds.

Games to help my child learn? Yes, it is our belief that by playing fun, educational games with your children, they can learn far more quickly than on their own. Learning should be fun and should never feel like a chore for children. As the parent, you set an example to help your child tap into his or her imagination and amazing capabilities of a growing brain, allowing them to learn more quickly and efficiently. Below are a few of the games we've come up with and used in the past but we hope you'll come up with some more on your own.

Listening/Repeating Game - Have them listen to the word and help them sound it out.

Word Game - When a picture is shown, let them say it to you.

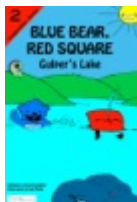

Writing Game - Have them get a piece of paper and write the word out as they see it or as the animal passes by, try to help them get all the animals right and watch their amazement as they do.
